Hitchcock, Nathan Karl Barth and the Resurrection of the Flesh: The Loss of the Body in Participatory Eschatology

Nathan Hitchcock pulls together Barth's doctrine of the resurrection of the flesh, anticipating what the great thinker might have said more systematically in volume V of his 'Church Dogmatics'. This book offers a sober warning to theologians pursuing eschatology through notions of participation.

Moseley, Carys Nationhood, Providence, and Witness: Israel in Modern Theology and Social Theory

Debates about the state of Israel tend to be inseparable from debates about US foreign policy and Israel's relation to the Palestinians. This book attempts to get beyond this perspective by confronting readers with the necessity of recognition of Israel as part of the Christian necessity for recognition of all nations. While nationalism may be almost unacceptable in our politically correct society today, Moseley asks if we are not missing something important by denying this universal issue.

Walker, Iain (Ed.)

The Libraries Directory

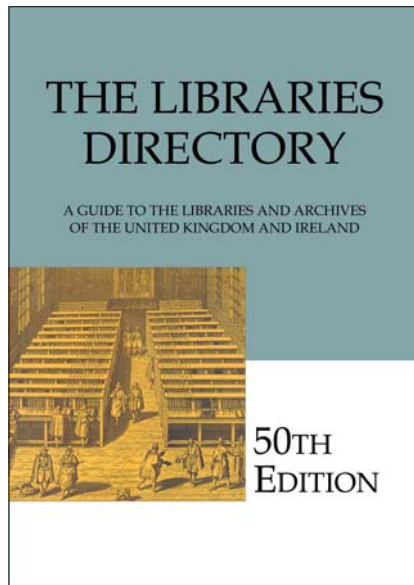

A Guide to the Libraries and Archives of the United Kingdom and Ireland
50th Edition

First published in 1897, as The Libraries, Museums and Art Galleries Year Book, The Libraries Directory is one of the longest established British directories. After being published on a continuous basis for over hundred years, it still remains an unsurpassed reference tool for those wishing to access and compare British Libraries and their services.

This is the most detailed and comprehensive directory of its kind, listing libraries, archives and related organisations in the UK (including the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man) and the Republic of Ireland. Categories covered by the database include legal deposit libraries, public libraries, academic and special libraries, archives and record offices, and library and information organisations. Full contact details of the libraries are supplied, along with details of access, acquisitions, stock and collections, publications, membership and many more.

This makes it an invaluable source of searchable information to anybody in the book world in the UK and Republic of Ireland and in particular for researchers seeking library information. It will prove also to be an essential reference guide to all library users and librarians, and is widely used among government and charitable organisations.

The new updated edition lists over 4000 entries (8400 including branch libraries). It retains the same user-friendly layout developed in recent editions, including the use of pictorial icons that allow the user to distinguish each type of library or institution at a glance. The extensive index lists not just names of libraries and institutions, but also subjects covered and major collections

All information is provided in both printed and digital formats. This edition contains a quick easy-to-find format book and a fully-searchable CD-ROM, it also includes hypertext navigation, browsable indexes, advanced search facilities, bookmarks, printing facilities, e-mail facilities, links to library websites and an on-line guide.

Network licences are also available, along with the Single User version.
