Hegstad, Harald

The Real Church: An

Ecclesiology of the Visible

This book is an argument for an ecclesiology of the visible. The only church, the real church, is a concrete reality made up of people, just like any other fellowship. What distinguishes it as church is the presence of the triune God among those who gather in the name of Jesus, making it a sign of the fellowship of the kingdom of God.

The Libraries Directory

A Guide to the Libraries and Archives of the United Kingdom and Ireland
50th Edition

First published in 1897, as The Libraries, Museums and Art Galleries Year Book, The Libraries Directory is one of the longest established British directories. After being published on a continuous basis for over hundred years, it still remains an unsurpassed reference tool for those wishing to access and compare British Libraries and their services.

This is the most detailed and comprehensive directory of its kind, listing libraries, archives and related organisations in the UK (including the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man) and the Republic of Ireland. Categories covered by the database include legal deposit libraries, public libraries, academic and special libraries, archives and record offices, and library and information organisations. Full contact details of the libraries are supplied, along with details of access, acquisitions, stock and collections, publications, membership and many more.

This makes it an invaluable source of searchable information to anybody in the book world in the UK and Republic of Ireland and in particular for researchers seeking library information. It will prove also to be an essential reference guide to all library users and librarians, and is widely used among government and charitable organisations.

The new updated edition lists over 4000 entries (8400 including branch libraries). It retains the same user-friendly layout developed in recent editions, including the use of pictorial icons that allow the user to distinguish each type of library or institution at a glance. The extensive index lists not just names of libraries and institutions, but also subjects covered and major collections

All information is provided in both printed and digital formats. This edition contains a quick easy-to-find format book and a fully-searchable CD-ROM, it also includes hypertext navigation, browsable indexes, advanced search facilities, bookmarks, printing facilities, e-mail facilities, links to library websites and an on-line guide.

Network licences are also available, along with the Single User version.

About James Clarke & Co

James Clarke and Co Ltd was founded in 1859 in Fleet Street, London. It produced the highly influential religious magazine, Christian World, which by the outbreak of the First World War was selling over 100,000 copies a week, and was the leading nonconformist weekly.

In addition James Clarke and Co began to publish books, at first these were mainly imports from the United States – very unusual at a time when American publishing relied heavily on buying from Britain. Major American preachers and theologians, such as Henry Ward Beecher, were thus introduced to British readers.

More recently the Company has specialised in academic and reference works. Major texts such as the New Testament Apocrypha edited by Schneemelcher, and the Encyclopedia of the Early Church edited by Angelo di Berardino have established themselves as the authoritative texts. Outside the religious field the main reference work is the biennial The Libraries Directory, providing detailed information on British and Irish libraries.
