

Contents

Preface to the First Edition xi

Preface to the Second Edition xiii

Introduction 1

Dialectic and Otherness: The Historical Problem 1

The Problem of Otherness: Four Fundamental Possibilities 7

Desire and Origins 12

PART 1: INTENTIONAL INFINITUDE

1. Desire, Lack, and the Absorbing God 21

Finite Desire and Lack 22

Particular Possessions and the Infinitude of Desire 27

The Difficulty of Discourse and Desire 31

Infinite Lack and the Absorbing God 34

Afterword 41

2. Desire and Original Selfness 43

The Issue in Historical Context 44

The Being of Self and the Difficulty of Discursive Access 46

The Original Self as Fact 51

The Original Self as Ideal 54

The Original Self as Concrete Ideality 58

The Original Self and the Empirical Ego 63

The Original Self and the Transcendental Ego:

Being and the “I Think” 68

Afterword 80

3. Desire's Infinitude and Wholeness 83
    Univocal and Equivocal Desire: Wholeness Shortcircuited 84
    Intentional Infinitude and Wholeness 89
    Between Incompleteness and Absolute Closure:
        Art and the Dialectical Tension of Wholeness 94
    The Open Circle of Desire 102
    Afterword 104

PART 2: ACTUAL FINITUDE

4. Desire, Transcendence, and Static Eternity 109
    Transcendence, Time, and the Problem of Dualism 109
    Desire and Equivocal Becoming 113
    Static Eternity and Its Defects 117
    Becoming as Process of Positive Othering 122
    The Self as Free Becoming 126
    The Positive Pluralization of Identity and Difference 128
    Afterword 132
5. Desire, Knowing, and Otherness 133
    Immediacy, Self-mediation, and Intermediation 134
    Hegel, Identity, and Self-Mediation 142
    The Dialectical and the Metaxological Relations 149
    Afterword 153
6. Desire, Concreteness, and Being 155
    Desire and the Identification of Otherness 155
    Univocal Particularity and Equivocal Predication 157
    Dialectical Comprehension and Form 160
    The Metaxological Affirmation of Being 164
    The Fourfold Sense of Being and Traditional
        Philosophical Views 169
    Afterword 171
7. Desire, Otherness, and Infinitude 173
    Desire, Infinitude, and the "Between" 173
    Three Forms of Infinitude 177
    The Sublime and Aesthetic Infinitude 184
    Agapeic Otherness 193
    Afterword 206

PART 3: ACTUAL INFINITUDE

8. Desire and the Absolute Original	211
The Absolute Original and the Metaxological View	212
The Absolute Original and the Givenness of Being	216
The Absolute Original, the Regulative Ideal, and the Ens Realissimum	220
The Absolute Original as Whole and Infinite	223
The Absolute Original as Beginning and End	232
The Absolute Original, Heights and Depths	234
The Absolute Original and the Absorbing God	239
The Absolute Original, Man, and the World	241
Afterword	244
 Bibliography	 247
Index	257

SAMPLE