

CONTENTS OF THE FIRST VOLUME

PREFACE TO THE 1923 EDITION	xi
NOTE TO THE SECOND IMPRESSION	xxiii
PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION	xxiv

PART I. - INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER I. — THE THREE CHIEF FORCES OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION 3-49

Introductory

- I. The First of the Three Forces: Hellenism, the Thirst for Richness and Harmony
- II. The Second of the Three Forces: Christianity, the Revelation of Personality and Depth
- III. The Third Force: Science, the Apprehension and Conception of Brute Fact and Iron Law
- IV. Summing up: Hellenism or Harmonization, Christianity or Spiritual Experience, and Science or Acceptance of a Preliminary Mechanism, all three necessary to Man

CHAPTER II. — THE THREE ELEMENTS OF RELIGION 50-82

Introductory

- I. The Three Elements, as they successively appear in the Child, the Youth, and the Adult Man
- II. Each Element ever accompanied by some amount of the other two. Difficulty of the Transition from one Stage to the other
- III. Parallels to this Triad of Religious Elements
- IV. Distribution of the Three Elements amongst Mankind and throughout Human History
- V. Causes operative in all Religion towards minimizing or suppressing one or other Element, or towards denying the need of any Multiplicity

- VI. The Special Motives operating in each Element towards the suppression of the other Elements
- VII. Three Final Objections to such a conception of Religion, and their Answers

PART II. - BIOGRAPHICAL

CHAPTER III. — CATHERINE FIESCA ADORNA'S LIFE, UP TO HER CONVERSION; AND THE CHIEF PECULIARITIES PREDOMINANT THROUGHOUT HER CONVERT YEARS

85-127

Introductory

- I. Proposed Study of the Mystical-Volitional Element in a Particular, Concrete Instance: St. Catherine of Genoa
- II. The Materials and Aids towards such a Study
- III. Peculiarities of the Genoese Climate and Geographical Position; of the Ligurian Character; and of the Times into which Catherine was born. Her Family, Father and Mother
- IV. Catherine's Life, up to the Preliminaries of her Conversion: Autumn 1447 to Mid-March 1474.
- V. Her Conversion, with its immediate Preliminaries and Consequences, March 1474
- VI. The Two Conceptions concerning the Character and Rationale of her Penitential Period and of her whole Convert Life. The Position adopted here
- VII. Catherine and the Holy Eucharist
- VIII. Catherine and Confession and Direction
- IX. Catherine and Indulgences
- X. Peculiarities concerning the Invocation of Saints and Intercessory Prayer

CHAPTER IV. — CATHERINE'S LIFE, 1473 TO 1506, AND ITS MAIN CHANGES AND GROWTH

128-174

- I. First Period of Catherine's Convert Life: Giuliano's Bankruptcy and Conversion: their Work among the Poor, March 1473 to May 1477
- II. Catherine and Tommasa Fiesca: their Difference of Character and attrait. Peculiarity of Catherine's Penitence and Health during this Time
- III. Change in the Temper of Catherine's Penitence, from May 1474 onwards
- IV. Catherine's Great Fasts
- V. Second, Central Period of Catherine's Convert Life, 1477-1499: its Special Spiritual Features

- VI. Catherine and Giuliano move into the Hospital in 1479, never again to quit it. She is Matron from 1490 to 1495
- VII. Catherine and the Plague. The Outbreak of 1493
- VIII. Catherine and Ettore Vernazza, 1493-1495
- IX. Catherine's Health breaks down, 1496; other Events of the same Year
- X. Events of 1497
- XI. Beginning of her Third, Last Period; End of the Extraordinary Fasts; First Relations with Don Marabotto
- XII. Her Conversations with her Disciples; "Caterina Serafina". Don Marabotto and the Possessed Maid
- XIII. Catherine's Sympathy with Animal- and Plant-Life: her Love of the Open Air. Her Deep Self-knowledge as to the Healthiness or Morbidity of her Psycho-physical States
- XIV. Catherine's Social Joys and Sorrows, 1501-1507

CHAPTER V. — CATHERINE'S LAST FOUR YEARS, 1506-1510. SKETCH OF HER CHARACTER, DOCTRINE, AND SPIRIT 175-250

- I. Catherine's External Interests and Activities up to May 1510. Occasional slight Deviations from her old Balance. Immensely close Inter-connection of her whole Mental and Psycho-physical Nature. Impressions as connected with the Five Senses
- II. More or less Maladif Experiences and Actions
- III. Catherine's History from May to September 9, 1510
- IV. The Last Six Days of Catherine's Life, September 10-15
- V. Sketch of Catherine's Spiritual Character and Significance

CHAPTER VI. — CATHERINE'S DOCTRINE 251-294

Introductory

- I. God as Creative Love. The Creature's True and False Self; True and False Love
- II. Sin, Purification, Illumination
- III. The Three Categories and the Two Ways
- IV. The Other Worlds

CHAPTER VII. — CATHERINE'S REMAINS AND CULTUS; THE FATE OF HER TWO PRIEST FRIENDS AND OF HER DOMESTICS; AND THE REMAINING HISTORY OF ETTORE VERNAZZA 295-335

- Introductory
- I. The Burial and the Events immediately surrounding it. September 15 to December 10, 1510
 - II. The Different Removals of the Remains, and the Chief Stages of her Official Cultus

- III. The Fate of Catherine's Priest Friends
- IV. The Fate of Catherine's Three Maid-servants
- V. The Two Vernazzas: their Debt to Catherine, and Catherine's Debt to them
- VI. Ettore Vernazza's Life, from 1509 to 1512
- VII. Ettore in Rome and Naples; his Second Will; his Work in the Genoese Prisons
- VIII. Ettore again in Naples; his Death in Genoa, June 1524; Peculiarities of his Posthumous Fame

CHAPTER VIII. — BATTISTA VERNAZZA'S LIFE 336-367

- Introductory
- I. Battista's Life, from April 1497 to June 1510
- II. Battista and her God-father, Tommaso Moro
- III. Battista's Colloquie, November 1554 to Ascension Day 1555
- IV. Some Further Letters of Battista
- V. Battista's Death, May 1587

CONCLUSION TO VOLUME I

WHEREIN LIES THE SECRET OF SPIRITUAL PERSUASIVENESS 367-370

APPENDIX TO PART II

CHRONOLOGICAL ACCOUNT AND CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF THE MATERIALS FOR THE RE-CONSTITUTION OF SAINT CATHERINE'S LIFE AND TEACHING 371-466

Introduction: The Three Laws that govern the Growth of Religious Biography; Complexity of the Materials for Catherine's Life

FIRST DIVISION: ACCOUNT AND ANALYSIS OF THE DOCUMENTS PREVIOUS, AND IMMEDIATELY SUBSEQUENT TO, THE "VITA E DOTTRINA" WITH THE "DICCHIARAZIONE", IN SEVEN STAGES 376-433

- I. First Stage: August 1456 to September 1510, all Legal
- II. Second Stage: Five further Official and Legal Documents, 1511-1526; and Four Mortuary Dates, 1524-1587
- III. Third Stage: Bishop Giustiniano's Account of Catherine's Life, Remains, and Biography, 1537
- IV. Fourth Stage: The Two Oldest Extant Manuscripts of the "Vita e Dottrina" with the "Dicchiarazione". Manuscript A (October 1547 to February 1548), and Manuscript B

- V. Fifth Stage: Manuscript C (copy of a MSS. of 1550?), first appearance of the “Dialogo”, “Chapter” First
- VI. Sixth Stage: First Printed Edition of the “Vita-Dottrina-Dicchiarezione”, 1551; Examination of all it possesses in addition to Manuscripts A, B, and C, apart from the “Dialogo”.
- VII. Seventh Stage: The Second “Chapter” of the “Dialogo”, which appears for the first time in the Printed “Vita”, 1551
- VIII. Seventh Stage continued: Minute Analysis of one Passage from the Second “Chapter”
- IX. Seventh Stage concluded: Character and Authorship of this Second “Chapter”

SECOND DIVISION: ANALYSIS, ASSIGNATION, AND APPRAISEMENT
OF THE “VITA-DOTTRINA-DICCHIARAZIONE” CORPUS, IN EIGHT SECTIONS

433-466

- I. The “Dicchiarezione”: the Two Stages of its Existence
- II. The Earlier “Dicchiarezione”, and its Theological Glosses
- III. Five Conclusions concerning the History of the “Dicchiarezione”
- IV. The “Vita”-Proper, its Divisions and Parts, and its Chief Secondary and Authentic Constituents
- V. Age and Authorship of the Literature retained
- VI. Analysis of the Conversion-Narratives
- VII. The Sayings-Passages: Three Tests for discriminating Authentic from Secondary Sayings
- VIII. Conclusion: At least Six Stages in the Upbuilding of the Complete Book of 1551. The Slight Changes introduced since then. First Claims to Authorship for Catherine

CONTENTS OF THE SECOND VOLUME

PART III. - CRITICAL

CHAPTER IX. — PSYCHO-PHYSICAL AND TEMPERAMENTAL QUESTIONS 3-61

Introductory

- I. Catherine's Third Period, 1497-1510
- II. Conclusions concerning Catherine's Psycho-Physical Condition during this Last Period
- III. Catherine's Psycho-physical Condition, its Likeness and Unlikeness to Hysteria
- IV. First Period of Catherine's Life, 1447-1477, in its Three Stages
- V. The Second, Great Middle Period of Catherine's Life, 1477-1499
- VI. Three Rules which seem to Govern the Relations between Psycho-physical Peculiarities and Sanctity in General
- VII. Perennial Freshness of the Great Mystics' Main Spiritual Test, in Contradistinction to their Secondary, Psychological Contention. Two Special Difficulties

CHAPTER X. — THE MAIN LITERARY SOURCES OF CATHERINE'S CONCEPTIONS 62-110

Introductory

- I. The Pauline Writings: the Two Sources of their Pre-conversion Assumptions; Catherine's Preponderant Attitude towards each Position
- II. The Johannine Writings
- III. The Arcopagite Writings
- IV. Jacopone da Todi's "Lode"
- V. Points common to all Five Minds; and Catherine's Main Difference from her Four Predecessors

CHAPTER XI. — CATHERINE'S LESS ULTIMATE THIS-WORLD DOCTRINES 111-181

Introductory

- I. Interpretative Religion

II.	Dualistic Attitude towards the Body
III.	Quietude and Passivity. Points in this Tendency to be considered here
IV.	Pure Love, or Disinterested Religion: its Distinction from Quietism
CHAPTER XII. — THE AFTER-LIFE PROBLEMS AND DOCTRINES		182-258
I.	The Chief Present-day Problems, Perplexities, and Requirements with Regard to the After-Life in General
II.	Catherine's General After-Life Conceptions
III.	Catherine and Eternal Punishment
IV.	Catherine and Purgatory
V.	Catherine and Heaven — Three Perplexities to be considered
CHAPTER XIII. — THE FIRST THREE ULTIMATE QUESTIONS		259-308
I.	The Relations between Morality and Mysticism, Philosophy and Religion
II.	Mysticism and the Limits of Human Knowledge and Experience
III.	Mysticism and the Question of Evil
CHAPTER XIV. — THE TWO FINAL PROBLEMS: MYSTICISM AND PANTHEISM. THE IMMANENCE OF GOD, AND SPIRITUAL PERSONALITY, HUMAN AND DIVINE		309-340
	Introductory
I.	Relations between the General and the Particular, God and Individual Things, according to Aristotle, the Neo-Platonists, and the Medieval Strict Realists
II.	Relations between God and the Human Soul
III.	Mysticism and Pantheism : their Differences and Points of Likeness
IV.	The Divine Immanence; Spiritual Personality
CHAPTER XV. — SUMMING-UP OF THE WHOLE BOOK. BACK THROUGH ASCETICISM, SOCIAL RELIGION, AND THE SCIENTIFIC HABIT OF MIND, TO THE MYSTICAL ELEMENT OF RELIGION		341-396
I.	Asceticism and Mysticism
II.	Social Religion and Mysticism
III.	The Scientific Habit and Mysticism
IV.	Final Summary and Return to the Starting-point of the Whole Inquiry: the Necessity, and yet the Almost Inevitable Mutual Hostility, of the Three Great Forces of the Soul and of the Three Corresponding Elements of Religion	