

List of Contributors

Anthony D. Baker is Associate Professor of Systematic Theology at Seminary of the Southwest in Austin, Texas. He is the author of Diagonal Advance: Perfection in Christian Theology, and is currently working on a book on Shakespeare and theology.

William Desmond is Professor of Philosophy at the Institute of Philosophy, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium. He is the author, amongst many works, most notably of the “Between” trilogy: Being and the Between, Ethics and the Between, God and the Between, as well as Desire, Dialectic, and Otherness (2nd ed.); Beyond Hegel and Dialectic: Speculation, Cult, and Comedy; Is There a Sabbath for Thought?; Hegel’s God: A Counterfeit Double?; and most recently, The Intimate Strangeness of Being: Metaphysics after Dialectic.

Lexi Eikelboom is a DPhil candidate in Theology (Modern Doctrine) at the University of Oxford. She is currently working on a thesis on rhythm as a theological category, and has published in the Heythrop Journal and Studies in Christian Ethics.

K. Nicholas Forti is an Episcopal priest in the Diocese of Virginia. He recently completed a Master of Sacred Theology at the School of Theology at Sewanee: The University of the South.

W. Chris Hackett is Research Fellow/Lecturer, School of Philosophy, Australian Catholic University. He is the translator of Jean-Yves Lacoste, From Theology to Theological Thinking and Emmanuel Falque, God, the Flesh and the Other, and co-author of Quiet Powers of the Possible: Interviews in Contemporary French Phenomenology.

Andrew T. J. Kaethler recently completed his PhD in systematic theology at the University of St Andrews. He has published in Modern Theology, Logos:

A Journal of Catholic Thought and Culture, and New Blackfriars. In addition, he has one monograph based on his MA thesis titled The Synthesis of Athens and Jerusalem: George Grant's Defense Against Modernity.

Kimbell Kornu is an Instructor in Palliative Medicine and Health Care Ethics at Saint Louis University in St. Louis, Missouri. He is currently working on a genealogy of medical knowledge following the paradigm of anatomical dissection.

Simone Kotva recently completed her PhD at the University of Cambridge, Emmanuel College. Her research explores the relationship between vitalism and Stoic revivalism in nineteenth- and twentieth-century French philosophy. Her work has appeared in Radical Orthodoxy; Theory, Culture & Society; and Noesis. She also publishes in Swedish.

Mary Midgley is a retired Senior Lecturer in Philosophy at the University of Newcastle. She is author of over fifteen books, including Beast and Man, Animals and Why They Matter, Evolution as a Religion, Science as Salvation, Science and Poetry, The Myths we Live By, The Solitary Self: Darwin and the Selfish Gene, and most recently, Are you an Illusion? She is regarded as one of the UK's most eminent and influential philosophers of recent decades.

John Milbank is Professor in Religion, Politics, and Ethics at the University of Nottingham, and is Director of the Centre of Theology and Philosophy. He is author, most notably, of Theology and Social Theory: Beyond Secular Reason as well as being the co-editor of the Radical Orthodoxy series (along with Catherine Pickstock and Graham Ward). Additionally, he is author of The Word Made Strange: Theology, Language, Culture, Truth in Aquinas (with Catherine Pickstock), Being Reconciled: Ontology and Pardon, The Suspended Middle: Henri de Lubac and the Debate Concerning the Supernatural, The Future of Love: Essays in Political Theology, and The Monstrosity of Christ: Paradox or Dialectic? (with Slavoj Žižek). Most recently, he has written Beyond Secular Order: The Representation of Philosophy and the Representation of the People, the first part of a two-part sequel to Theology and Social Theory.

Sotiris Mitralexis, Dr.phil. in Philosophy at the Freie Universität Berlin and Visiting Scholar at Boğaziçi University, Istanbul. He has recently earned his PhD with a thesis entitled Ever-Moving Repose: The Notion of Time in Maximus the Confessor's Philosophy through the Perspective of a Relational Ontology.

Nichifor Tănase is Lecturer of Orthodox Spirituality and History of Christian Literature at Eftimie Murgu University, Resita (Romania). He holds a PhD in theology with a thesis on the hesychast dispute of the fourteenth century and its influence on twentieth-century neo-patristic theology: "The Receptarea spiritualității Sfântului Grigorie Palama în Teologia Ortodoxă a secolului XX: Dumitru Stăniloae, John Meyendorff și John Romanides" [Reception of the Spirituality of St. Gregory Palamas in the Orthodox Theology of the Twentieth Century: Dumitru Stăniloae, John Meyendorff and John Romanides]. He is a member of The Society for the Promotion of Byzantine Studies (SPBS), of the Association des Amis de Sources Chrétiennes (AASC), of the International Association of Patristic Studies (IAPS), and of The Nordic Society for Philosophy of Religion (NSPR); he is also the coordinator of Didactic Theology degree program. His publications include: Ontology of the Incarnation: Being-Essence-Phenomenon Triptych and Christ and Time: The Living Present of the Life-Energetic Perichoresis between Time and Eternity, and Orthodox Spirituality: Neopatristic-palamite Synthesis. He is currently working on a book entitled Logic and Spirituality: Deification Rhetoric in Saint Gregory Palamas (forthcoming).

Anna Piazza is currently working as a PhD student at Max Weber Kolleg Erfurt with a dissertation on Max Scheler's philosophy of religion. She has published in various philosophical journals including Phenomenology and Mind. She is currently translating two works of Scheler's, to be published with FrancoAngeli.

Johann Rossouw is Senior Lecturer in Philosophy at the University of the Free State, South Africa. He completed his doctoral thesis on the theological in Bernard Stiegler's philosophy and politics at Monash University, Melbourne in 2013.

Férdia J. Stone-Davis received a BA, MPhil, and PhD from the University of Cambridge before proceeding to Trinity College of Music, London, where she gained a MMus, specializing in early music performance. Since graduating, she has combined research, performance, and teaching. She is an interdisciplinary academic working in the fields of music, philosophy, and theology. Publications include a monograph Musical Beauty: Negotiating the Boundary between Subject and Object, a co-edited collection The Soundtrack of Conflict: The Role of Music in Radio Broadcasting in Wartime and in Conflict Situations, and an edited collection Music and Transcendence. She is currently a research assistant in the Department of Musicology, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Germany.

Edmund Waldstein, O.Cist. doctoral candidate in theology at the University of Vienna, Austria, and monk of the Abbey of Heiligenkreuz. His dissertation is on the work of David Foster Wallace.

L. C. Wilson is a PhD candidate at the University of Nottingham. Her research focuses on the theology of melancholy.

Nigel Zimmermann is Lecturer in Theology at the University of Notre Dame Australia (Sydney). He is author of Levinas and Theology and Facing the Other: John Paul II, Levinas, and the Body. He has also published in The Heythrop Journal and The Tablet. He completed his doctorate at the University of Edinburgh and was granted funding for a postdoctoral project by the Wingate Foundation.