

Contributors

Jana Binon is writing a dissertation on pastoral care within a psychiatric context at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium.

Roger Burggraeve is emeritus professor in Christian ethics, with a focus on ethics of marriage and sexuality. He taught at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium.

Annemie Dillen is associate professor of practical and empirical theology at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium. She coordinates a research project on power and pastoral care.

Carrie Doehring is Associate Professor of Pastoral Care and Counseling at Iliff School of Theology, Denver, Colorado.

Stefan Gärtner is assistant professor in practical theology at the Faculty of Catholic Theology at the University of Tilburg, the Netherlands.

Emmanuel Lartey is professor of pastoral theology, care, and counseling at Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Axel Liégeois is professor of pastoral theology at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium. He holds the Chair Canon

Contributors

Triest on Pastoral Care of People with Mental Illness or Disability (Brothers of Charity). He is ethical advisor for the Brothers of Charity, Gent (Belgium).

Didier Pollefeyt is vice rector of education at the KU Leuven, Belgium. As professor at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, his research is in catechetics, religious education, Jewish-Christian relations, and post-Holocaust studies.

Machteld Reynaert obtained her PhD at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium. Her research was about power, children and pastoral theology. She works at the same university on a project about Catholic identity.

Cristina Traina is Professor of Religion, Department of Religious Studies, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Anne Vandenhoeck is assistant professor in pastoral theology and pastoral care at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium.